The picture is very dramatic and heroic. It shows a victorious soldier against the backdrop of an explosion. The soldier looks powerful and undefeated because he is photographed from beneath and because he is against the light and becomes a silhouette. The picture looks like a glorification of the military soldier. The picture looks like a glorification to movies - action movies - and it also resembles my theological imagery. The explosion doesn't look harmful - the tone-in-tone feel of it enhances the heroic pose. It's got almost a dreamy quality.
